

Statement of the Brotherhood of Christian Businessmen and Professionals (BCBP) on Joining the Trillion Peso March Movement

The Brotherhood of Christian Businessmen and Professionals (BCBP) stands in solidarity with the Filipino people in calling for honesty, accountability, and integrity in government. Guided by our core advocacy “Be Honest” and our mission to bring Christ into the marketplace and the nation, we join the Trillion Peso March Movement as an act of faith, as a moral imperative.

Over the recent years, trillions of pesos in public funds - taxes collected from hardworking Filipinos – have been allocated for programs and projects intended to uplift the poor, strengthen our infrastructure, and secure the nation’s future. Yet, the persistent misallocation, misuse, and abuse of these funds have been robbing our people of schools, hospitals, roads, jobs, and opportunities for a better life. This is not only a matter of governance; it is a profound moral issue that strikes at the very heart of justice and truth.

As Christian businessmen and professionals, we are called to lead by example. Silence in the face of corruption is complicity. Indifference allows injustice to flourish. By joining the Trillion Peso March Movement, the BCBP declares that we will not remain silent. Standing firm in our values, we shall use our voice to demand transparency, accountability, and integrity, thus proper stewardship of the nation’s resources.

This movement is not about partisan politics; it is about principle. It is not about power; it is about people - especially the poor and the vulnerable who suffer the most when public funds are wasted, or worse, stolen. The Trillion Peso March Movement is a cry for reform, a call for righteousness in governance, and a collective prayer for a Philippines where honesty prevails and corruption has no place.

We therefore reaffirm our commitment to live out the BCBP covenant through honesty and integrity, and to invite others in government, business, and civil society to live out these values themselves. With our Christian faith as our foundation and our love for God and country as our motivation, we march for truth. We march for justice. We march for a better Philippines.

No to corruption. Yes to integrity. Yes to a nation renewed in God.
